Davis, New Davis, Bethel.

Why Girls Leave Home, at the Comique, hilarious comedy, a burlesque on the "Ten, twenty, thirty" melodrama. The cost a theatrical handbill has on a clergyman's household forms the thread of the story which displays in these most laughable manner the inconsistencies of acting and stage setting of the popular drama and the varying effects on the audience. Don't miss this, its simply great. Onward, an Indian picture that is par excellence, the scenes being laid in the colony of Massachusetts. Romance of an Umbrella, one of the daintiest comedies to be seen. Notable because of scenes made in an actual rainstorm.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX"

First Class Play Coming to Barre Opera House Next Monday.

No better or more refined play has been put on the American stage than "The Man on the Box" which will be the attraction at the opera house on next Monday night, Oct. 11, with Wilmer Walter in the title role, supported by a strong cast.

The play is a dramatization of Harold McStrath's popular book of the same name, and has been a wonderful success on tour.

The first act we find Robert Worburton brought before a magistrate, charged with reckless driving and abduction. A friend, Charles Henderson, has secured him a private hearing, and during a conversation between the two men we learn that on the previous night Worburton had shaved off his beard, borrowed a coachman's livery and jumped on the box of a carriage just as the guests were leaving from a ball at the British embassy in Washington. He supposed it was his sister's carriage and that it would be "good fun" to fool her by driving her to her own door and kissing her as she left the carriage.

He jumped on the wrong box, however, took as his fair passenger Elizabeth Annesley, whom he had seen on board ship coming home from Europe and unduly loved, but to whom he had been unable to secure an introduction. He had difficulty in managing the horse and drove so fast he was pursued by the mounted police. To save himself he drove to the curb dismounted, and when Miss Annesley left the carriage he had kissed her, thinking it was his sister. She has him arrested, the police also prefer charges of reckless driving against him. At the trial Miss Annesley withdraws the charge of abduction, and when he is fined and has no money to pay the court, she pays the fine for him and engages him as her coachman and groom. She is confident that "James Osborne," as he gives his name, is other than he pretends, and she wishes to find out at her leisure who he really is.

Worburton accepts the position and the remaining acts have to do with his serving her as coachman and groom, incidentally making her love him, discovering the perfidy of her father, who, as a high military official, is about to sell the plans of government forces to a Russian spy, succeeds in preventing this, wins the girl and makes good with his own fortune the amount necessary to restore her father's losses.

EXHILARATING FOR BOTH.

Rev. Peter McMillan Tells How He Met King Edward.

The Rev. Peter McMillan, formerly pastor of the Congregational church in Barre and now located at South Worcester, Mass., as pastor of Hope church, has recently from a trip abroad and he is telling his parishioners how he met King Edward in the following manner:

"One morning I was walking out about the grounds of Buckingham palace, when whom should I spy but the king. He was looking the picture of health, and there was an elasticity in his movements surprising in one of his years. Soon as I saw him, I doffed my hat, and he did the same. I thought of crying out, 'Hello, Ed,' but he was so far away from me and there was such a gale blowing at the time that I don't think I could have made myself heard. But it was a great moment for both the king and myself when we perceived each other raising our hats. I shall never forget it, friend; it was absolutely thrilling, not to mention exhilarating."

The Daylight Store

This is Just About the Time

every lady is planning for the newest and best things for her Fall wardrobe. What FACTS are you going to consider in making out a list of the things you will need? First, you will need a good Worsted Suit with a long semi-fitting coat with the new plaited skirt. Then you will want one of those in the medium weight. The long seven-eighth fitted coat is a very popular garment. Remember the good length partial fitted Pony Coat is to be more popular this season than ever.

LADIES' LONG COATS.

The long partial and semi-fitted Coat is bound to be the popular garment for cold weather. Not for many seasons have we had a Coat that would appeal to everyone like this popular Coat.

This is the Coat you want to slip on to go down town in the morning. You have not got to stop to put on a dressy skirt. Then, it is a very warm garment, coming, as they do, in the heavy line wool cloth. They have a style that will appeal to all.

These garments come in a variety of styles which are sure to be to your liking, as they make a garment that is warm and durable.

Our line of Black Coats is unusually large and coming as they do in the long full length styles, some of them are lined to the waist and flannel interlined. Others are lined throughout. These Coats are priced from $6.75 to $25.00.

We are now showing our full line of new winter furs in both ladies' and misses' sizes, also a large line of sets in children's furs.
